Acknowledgements

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all those who have contributed to the successful completion of this thesis.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my supervisor, Dr. John Smith, for his unwavering support, guidance, and expertise throughout the research process. His insights, constructive feedback, and encouragement were invaluable in shaping this project. Without his guidance, this thesis would not have been possible.

I would also like to extend my deepest appreciation to my research committee members, Prof. Jane Doe and Dr. Michael White, for their valuable suggestions, critical feedback, and support throughout my study.

A special thanks to the XYZ Research Fund for providing the financial support that enabled me to conduct this research. Their generous funding was essential for the completion of this project.

I would also like to acknowledge the assistance of my colleagues and peers at the Department of Sociology, who have provided feedback, collaboration, and technical assistance at various stages of this project.

On a more personal note, I would like to thank my family and friends for their unwavering love and emotional support throughout this research journey. I am particularly grateful to my parents, whose encouragement and belief in my abilities kept me motivated during challenging times. To my friends, thank you for providing me with both emotional and moral support throughout the duration of this thesis.

Lastly, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to everyone who helped and supported me during this journey. Your encouragement, assistance, and kindness made this research experience both rewarding and memorable.
